Participants sought for Leadership Glades Belle Glade— Are you interested in serving the community? Committed to professional growth? Involved in organizations, clubs, or boards? Dedicated to the future of the Glades?

Then you are a candidate for the second annual Leadership Glades program.

Participants will explore critical issues through a series of seminars and related activities. They will interact with key decision makers, experts, community leaders, and representatives of local government to better understand the forces that impact their business, community, and daily lives.

To participate, call Iris Tanner, Executive Secretary for the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce at 996-2745.

Hurry, the deadline is September 11.

Political Forum planned Sept. 17 Belle Glade— The Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce and other local organizations are planning a "Meet the Candidates" Political Forum on September 17.

A cashif dinner will be served at 6 p.m. and candidates on the November ballot will speak at 7 p.m.

Tickets can be purchased from any Chamber member or at the Chamber office.

Com. Foster to be in area

County Commissioner Ken Foster will be in the Glades Wednesday, September 2 and Friday Sept. 18.

Anyone wishing an appointment with Commissioner Foster can call his Administrative Assistant Sue Bailey at 996-4814 to set up an appointment.

New phone line

A new telephone line will now make it possible for school district parents and patrons in the southern and western sections of Palm Beach County to call school district offices without incurring long-distance charges. The new telephone number is 930-9402.

The new number will connect callers with one of the districts' information operators, who will in turn connect callers with one of the districts' information operators, who will in turn connect the caller with the desired district office—primarily at the District Administrative Center in West Palm Beach. Among offices likely to receive a large number of calls are the Boundaries Office, which can provide the school assignments for any given address; the Pupil Personnel Services Department, which handles requests for student reassignments; and the Personnel Office.

Hurricane Andrew does very little damage in the Glades

With the death toll at 14 and over 50,000 people homeless in Dade County after Hurricane Andrew swept through August 24, Glades residents are thankful there was so little damage here.

U.S. Sugar changes the way they pay workers

U.S. Sugar Corporation will change the way they pay their H2A guest workers who cut sugarcane starting with the 1992-93 harvest season.

The company said they will begin paying on a piece rate, per ton instead of the traditional task rate, which has been used in the industry for more than four decades.

Company officials say the change will mean that workers will be paid for the actual net tons of sugarcane cut each day, measured at the mills. Workers will still be guaranteed by a minimum hourly wage of $5.68.

The incentive system is designed to allow the average worker at U.S. Sugar to earn $6.83 per hour.

Robert Buker, senior vice president of U.S. Sugar, said the new system of pay is being adopted in response to a series of lawsuits about sugarcane cutters' wages and a recent decision in the Bygrave case in which a Palm Beach County circuit judge has ruled that the sugar industry's clearance order requesting off shore workers calls for pay by the ton.

Buker said the new per ton piece rate system is fundamentally different from the task rate system at issue in the recent court ruling. The industry has said it will appeal that decision.

"This is a last ditch effort on U.S. Sugars' part to save the guest worker program," said Buker. All other companies have announced they are abandoning hand cutting, which last year brought approximately 7,500 Jamaican workers to the U.S. for the five month harvest.

"This new system of pay is a system which has been sought by workers' advocates," Buker said. Under the prior task rate system, "farm workers' advocates," Buker said. Under the prior task rate system, farm supervisors estimate the amount of time it will take for a worker to cut sugarcane in a field and establish a price per row to be cut. Critics have said this method is too subjective and subject to abuse. Under the new system, workers' pay will be based on the actual amount of sugarcane cut, as weighed at the sugar mill.

U.S. Sugar's electronic timekeeping system, fully implemented last year, will still be maintained, so that workers will be paid the higher of the piece rate for the tons cut or the minimum hourly wage rate of $5.68 per hour. U.S. Sugar sugarcane cutters last year averaged $6.54 per hour.

With supplements and working holiday pay, workers will receive approximately $5.25 per ton of cane cut. Officials for sugarcane industry say the average cane cutter historically cuts more than 1.2 tons per hour and therefore will earn approximately $6.83 per hour under the new system. This amount includes a six percent per ton wage supplement.

Mr. Buker said he expects the company's labor cost to go up due to an increase in the minimum wage rate from $5.38 to $5.68 per hour.

The new system of pay must be approved by the U.S. Department of Labor and will be incorporated in the company's clearance order for the coming harvest season.

U.S. Sugar has announced a reduction in its H2A work force this year of approximately 1,100 workers. It expects to bring approximately 2100 workers from Jamaica in October.

Hurricane Andrew paid a short visit to the Glades early Sunday morning but didn't leave much of a mess. This Town Star on North Main Street, Belle Glade seemed to be the worse hit in town. Workers were busy Monday repairing the damage from the storm.

Arsonist sets fire to five rooms at Days Inn

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Police are seeking leads and a motive to a fire that did over $100,000 damage to the Days Inn motel last week.

An arsonist set fire to five vacant rooms at the Days Inn in the early morning hours of Aug. 19 causing over 50 guests to be evacuated.

Three rooms at the back of the motel on the top floor, rooms 231, 233 and 235, were completely destroyed. Two other rooms on the north wing bottom floor were also destroyed.

Assistant Manager Rigueur Silva said the front desk receptionist Barbara Scott got a call about the fire from a guest in Room 131 who said at first he heard glass breaking and thought someone was breaking in his room.

The motel, located at 1075 South Main Street, is owned by Belle Glade Innkeepers and is one of 45 motels owned by the company.

Detective Sgt. Curtis Stambaugh with the Belle Glade Police Department said the Belle Glade Fire Department and Volunteer Department responded to the call and in less than half hour had it under control.

The State Fire Marshall's Office was not of the suspicious nature of the fires and Inspector Wayne Petrovich was on site at the Inn the next morning.

He ruled the fire arson and said a investigation will be conducted by the Crime Investigations Department and the State Fire Marshall's Office.

Anyone with information regarding this incident is encouraged to contact Det. Sgt. Curtis Stambaugh of the Belle Glade Police Department at 996-7251 or Chief Tony Tuliano at the Belle Glade Fire Department at 996-2032.

Egyptians study Glades farming

Six Egyptian agricultural scientists toured sugarcane, rice and produce operations throughout the Glades area recently as part of a Sugar Production and Research Management Workshop, a national research program of the Egyptian government.

The group, hosted by the Florida Sugar Cane League, spent four days in Florida in an effort to learn more about high-technology farming methods which could be adopted in Egyptian agricultural practices.

According to Dr. John Dunkelman, the League's Vice President-Agricultural Research, there are about 330,000 acres of irrigated sugarcane farms in Egypt. He pointed out that although the region's annual yields are high, the farming methods are primitive in comparison to Florida standards and use a very high rate of hand labor.

"It's general knowledge that farming in Egypt dates back to well before Christ," Dunkelman said. "However, there has been very little change in farming practices

The SWIM plan changes Final report in a series of seven

By Twila Valentine

The South Florida Water Management District (WMD) recently unveiled their proposed seven-element management plan for the management of Lake Okeechobee, preserving its ecosystem, providing flood control for residents of central and south Florida, as well as a backup water supply for residents on the East Coast. The plan is an update of an interim plan which was implemented in 1989 and led regulatory steps to improve water quality, decrease nutrients overloading, and to better manage surface waters within the district. The water quality element is the largest and most important element in the proposed draft of the Lake Okeechobee Surface Water Improvement and Management (SWIM) Plan. The alleged degradation of water quality, attributed primarily to excessive nutrients, primarily phosphorus, coming into the lake, was the primary issues addressed in the 1989 Interim SWIM Plan.

The Primary goal of the water quality element is to "protect and enhance the quality of water in Lake Okeechobee to meet regional environmental and potable water supply needs." Concerns about nitrogen, chlorides, total dissolved solids, specific conductivity, bacteria, biological diversity, dissolved oxygen and herbicide are being addressed along with the reduction and control of the amount of phosphorus entering the lake. The first goal of the water quality element is to protect and restore Lake Okeechobee water quality to meet regional environmental and potable water supply needs. Concerns about nitrogen, phosphorus, dissolved solids, specific conductivity, bacteria, biological diversity, dissolved oxygen and herbicide are being addressed along with the reduction and control of the amount of phosphorus entering the lake. The first goal of the water quality element is to protect and restore Lake Okeechobee water quality to meet regional environmental, potable water supply and agricultural needs. The objective of this goal is to manage and improve the water quality in Lake Okeechobee and its inflows to prevent nutrient overloading and to bring about a reduction in Lake-wide phosphorus concentrations.

The strategy is to reduce the amount of phosphorus input into the lake by 40 percent and to assess the progress and effectiveness of the phosphorus reduction programs and evaluate and synthesize information obtained from recently completed and ongoing research programs and demonstration projects. The general concept of the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) Dairy Rule and Dairy Buy-Out Program was to achieve a nutrient balance by keeping phosphorus on site for uptake by plants followed by harvesting of hay or other crops for cow feed. The dairies are to provide for the collection, storage and disposal of wastewater from high intensity use areas during a storm event. As a result of the DER Dairy Rule and the Dairy Buy-Out Program, 19 dairies chose the buyout option and ceased operations. This move relocated some 14,000 head of dairy cows out of the basin. The remaining 30 active dairies have implemented Best Management Practices (BMPs) at an average cost of $1.5 million per dairy location. The regulation of non-dairy land uses established a program where all land uses within the basin were subject to the rule, the type of permit required depends on several factors; they type of land used, the extent to which it is a contributor of phosphorus to the lake, and the basin in which it is located. Individual permits were required if the land use was in a priority basin and included dairies not covered by the Rule, improve pasture, vegetable farms and row crops, heifer farms, hog farms, poultry farms, and goat farms. General permits were required of all other land uses such as urban stormwater, golf courses, sugar cane, house farms, nurseries, and spreading of sludge, and sod farms. In the regulatory program, users are required to meet specific off-site phosphorus concentration limitations. If there is a 50 percent probability that the average concentration will not be met, the landowner is required to take corrective measures to bring the discharge from the property into compliance. Since December 1989 permitting activities have been conducted in Lake Okeechobee and of the 262 applications received, permits were issued to 248 landowners. A mail out to landowners whose property is greater than 20 acres was completed in December 1991. As a result of this mail out, 233 applications were received and 218 permits issued. A second mail out to over 300 landowners whose property is between 5 and 20 acres was scheduled for May 1, 1992. To date, the monitoring program has identified 56 non-complying discharge sites and when necessary action is being taken to send notification of violations to landowners. Following notification, the permittee has 14 days to submit a corrective action strategy and implementation schedule. If these plans are found to be acceptable, they are given a specific time frame to implement the plan and being the non-complying discharge into compliance. Failure to submit plans, or achieve compliance will result in assessments and/or penalty fees.

South Florida Water Management District is updating its Surface Water Improvement and Management (SWIM) Plan. The plan is divided into seven elements. In the first part of the water quality element, we learned it is the largest and most important element in the proposed draft of the Lake Okeechobee Surface Water Improvement and Management (SWIM) Plan. The alleged degradation of water quality, attributed primarily to excessive nutrients, primarily phosphorus, coming into the lake, was the primary issues addressed in the 1989 Interim SWIM Plan. Last time, we began to take a detailed look at the goals, objectives and strategies the district is proposing to protect and improve water quality.

Another strategy is to quantify the behavior, movement, transport and fate of phosphorus within the soils, sediments, wetlands and water courses of various land uses with the watershed. The district plans to develop models to predict phosphorus transport within each basin and prepare an inventory of phosphorus imports/exports for all tributaries leading to the lake. Another strategy the district has in its proposed plan is to characterize the sediments in the lake and identify the key processes which affect the lake's ability to assimilate and retain phosphorus. Again, studies and the development of models that will lead to an understanding of the lake's phosphorus dynamics have been done, and are continuing. The final report on a Phosphorus Dynamics Study is due in February 1993.

Yet, another strategy to better manage the water quality in Lake Okeechobee is a model to assess the ecological health of the lake and to determine acceptable phosphorus loading rates. They will perform a comparative review of other potential useful water quality/ecological models that can help in making more precise predictions concerning loading, lake stage an internal loading effects and the response in the biological communities.

Improving the district's ability to assess nutrient loadings and to quantify nutrient sources with scientifically defensible accuracy is yet another strategy contained in the plan. Some of the programs to achieve this include: Automated Monitoring of In-Lake Water Quality; Development of a Comprehensive Flow Measurement/Nutrient Loading Methodology; and, Evaluation of Nutrient Loads Contribute by Wet and Dry Atmospheric Deposition. Most of these studies are funded for the fiscal of 1993.

The objective of determining the extent to which drinking water and Class III surface water quality standards are exceeded both within the lake and at its inflow points is included in the plan.

Initiating and continuing the monitoring efforts to identify and quantify the extent an impacts of violations of the standards is a strategy proposed in the plan.

Another objective is to develop a scientific understanding of the nutrient dynamics of the lake, especially the role that nitrogen plays in determining lake primary productivity and the eutrophication process.

A study to identify and quantify nitrogen cycling and distribution is one of the strategies developed for this objective. The final goal will be to control nitrogen input into the lake.

Identify the sources of pollution within the lake is the fourth objective of the district according to the plan. It also proposes to implement appropriate programs and techniques to remove and control point and non-point sources of pollution.

The strategies under this objective include to continue working with the DER to phase out the discharge of sewage treatment plant effluent to surface waters within the Lake Okeechobee basin. The district will use the strategy to also develop a cooperative program with DER, Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS), and local governments to assess the extent to which septic tanks contribute to phosphorus levels within a particular basin. To develop master stormwater management plans is another strategy proposed in the plan. Working with local governments, it will reduce nutrient loading to the lake.

The fifth objective is to manage and improve the quality and quantity of fresh water released from the lake to lessen the impact on downstream estuarine systems. The strategy is to develop a data base to determine the downstream environmental impacts of fresh water releases. Then, appropriate water release programs and management options can be developed which will protect and enhance environmental resources of these receiving water bodies.

As part of the study, work is currently underway in the Caloosahatchee estuary and the St. Lucie River estuary. Some possible solutions might be the lake regulation schedule, the pulse release and early release programs. Another strategy proposed is to define the impacts of nutrient enrichment and other water quality parameters on the estuaries. Then, programs can be developed to protect these communities from further water quality degradation.

Hurricane Andrew tiptoed through the Glades

Long lines...Many people waited until Sunday afternoon to stock up on candles, canned goods and bottled water. Winn Dixie and U-Save were packed with customers until closing time Sunday.

A few trees fell in Belle Glade...Damage in the Glades was limited to a few downed trees and a twisted awning on North Main Street. This tree fell in the N.W. Avenue D area of town.

Only minor damage reported in Belle Glade, Pahokee, South Bay areas

turn our thoughts to helping those who were not so lucky in Miami."

Andrew made himself known locally beginning about 1 a.m. Monday morning and wind gusts from 45 to 50 miles per hour were recorded at the Everglades Research and Education Center east of Belle Glade.

According to Jeanie Jacobs, weather person for the EREC, Andrew started showing effects about midnight and during the night the barometer dropped to 29.84 and the rainfall for the night was recorded at 3.58 inches.

South Bay Police Chief Roy

Humston said his city had no reported damage from the storm.

Administrative Assistant Susan Harrelle said that although traffic was heavy Sunday afternoon on U.S. 27, there were no accidents within the city limits.

She said at one point she counted 207 cars and trucks in 15 minutes headed north on 27. Pahokee Police Chief Carmen

"Skeets" Salvatore said there were a few limbs down in Pahokee, but he had seen worst damage from a Sunday afternoon thunderstorm.

His biggest concern was when the county ordered the evacuation of everybody within 1,000 yards of the Herbert Hoover Dike.

"There was no way," he said, "because 1,000 yards includes everything in Pahokee, including Pahokee High School, which was used as a shelter."

He said he will be speaking with officials about the problem, noting that the land next to the dike was higher than most other areas of the city.

Three Red Cross shelters were opened locally, with about 1,000 people seeking refuge from the storm.

Ann Hopkins, Director of the Glades Office of the American Red Cross said Lake Shore Middle School had 300 people, Glades Central housed 350 and Pahokee High School sheltered an additional 247.

"People were calling us and asking why we didn't have a shelter open in South Bay," she said. "South Bay is so low, it's not the ideal place to be in a shelter."

Ms. Hopkins said people came to the shelters in spurts as they grew afraid to stay at home.

"Every time we got a good wind blow, we got 25 or 30 more people," she said.

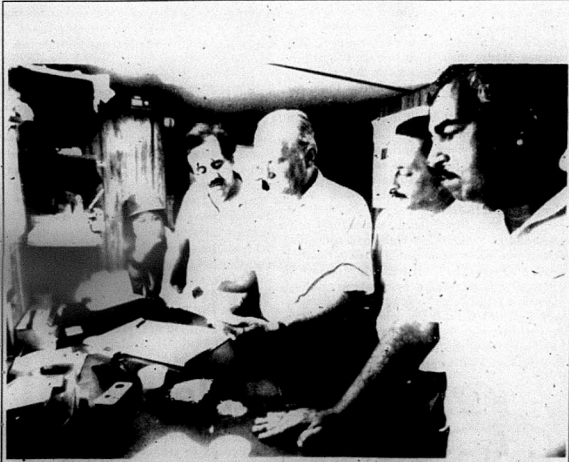

People began leaving the shelters and returning home between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. on Monday, Ms. Hopkins said.

Now, she said her office is getting a lot of calls from people out of state asking about their relatives in Miami.

The Red Cross can not get that information unless the person in question is in the military.

Better safe than sorry...Lee Lawson, (right) owner of Tri-City Furniture on South Main Street Belle Glade, gets help from Ron Ison in boarding up for the storm. Most Glades residents either boarded up or taped their windows over the weekend.

Glades residents rally to help victims of Hurricane Andrew

Glades residents can help the victims of Hurricane Andrew by taking non-perishable food and unopened containers of water to the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce, Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, Glades General Hospital, Everglades Memorial Hospital, Barnett Bank and Palm Beach Community College. The American Red Cross will pick up the items from these locations.

Flo-Sun Incorporated announced it was virtually unaffected by hurricane Andrew, and the company will be sending supplies of rice and sugar to hurricane victims in Dade and Broward Counties.

"Our priorities are to help these employees living in Dade and Broward counties who were affected by the Hurricane and to provide whatever relief services we can," said Jorge Dominiciis, vice president of Flo-Sun. "We are happy to be able to help the hurricane victims in whatever way we can."

The company was hopeful the first shipments of rice and sugar could be shipped Wednesday.

"The Flo-Sun mills in Palm Beach County were very lucky to have been spared the full impact of hurricane Andrew," Dominiciis said. "Preparations resumed today for harvesting the crop in October."

He said extensive precautions were taken at the company's three mills, Okeelanta Corporation, Osceola Farms and Atlantic Sugar Association, Inc. to minimize damage due to high winds and water.

Sugar Cane Growers offers help

Barbara Miedema, Public Relations spokesperson for Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative said they have offered their rice trucks to transport items from the Glades to the Red Cross office in West Palm Beach.

They have also made an offer to the Office of Civil Defense to let them use bedding, cots, porta potties and water carts.

"We want to help in any way we can," she said.

The company has also let Red Cross know they have a labor camp available in South Bay that could be used to house victims of the storm. Labor Camp #4 could hold up to 500 people.

Conventions are a comedy

I watched the Democratic Convention a couple of weeks ago and then the Republican Convention this week on television. Both parties failed to bring up many important issues or either I was asleep on the couch if they did!

Neither of the presidential candidates seemed to have any solutions to what we living down here in the "real world" are facing.

The Republican Convention reminded me of a Southern Baptist Convention I once attended and the Democratic Convention was like a Broadway production I once saw in New York.

Ross Perot quit!
I want my vote to count. It's a shame there isn't another choice party with the money to give "normal" middle class working people a chance to have a say in our government.

Although I am a Democrat, I voted Republican for the past two presidential elections. Now, I am frustrated. The Republicans have gone so far to the right that they may try to ban breast feeding in the near future unless the proper title is made at the pulpit.

The Democrats have gone past the "Rainbow Coalition" and into the left armpit in the sky.

George Bush said he would make a bigger come back than Harry Truman. Pardon me George, but wasn't Harry (Give me Hell) Truman a Democrat?

I guess I'll vote for my left armpit this year! If we are going to fall apart, let's do it quickly. Anything is better than the slow death offered by the do nothing Republicans.

What I'd really like to say about the Haitian people is that it's a big problem this year. They don't have space to live. Jobs are scarce at this time of year and it's hard for the people who live here already. Shouldn't there be a limit on those allowed to come here. Will you study the situation and give us a report?

Girl Scout registration is open

Dear Editor:

With September upon us, I wish to remind parents in our surrounding communities that now is an ideal time to register their daughter(s) in Girl Scouting.

The Girl Scout program provides education and fun for all girls ages 5-17. Community service, outdoor activities, environmental science, and career exploration are just some of the areas girls will explore this coming year, while making friends and working toward common goals.

But Girl Scouting is not just for girls. Adult volunteers (both women and men) bring the Girl Scout program to life. Girls Scouts of the U.S.A. (GSUSA) continually updates programs, offers adult leadership courses, and brings volunteers together for dynamic training events. Whether adults wish to lead a troop, assist with projects, or provide a one-time workshop, Girl Scouting has a place for them. Serving as a volunteer is also an ideal way for parents to spend quality time with their daughters.

Candidate for District 23

Editor's note: Eight candidates are running for the 23rd Congressional District seat. The 23rd District is one of the newly drawn districts that resulted from reapportionment. This district has no incumbent. Parts of our area are also under District #16 where 3 candidates are running.

In order to give our readers an opportunity to get to know all the candidates, we have asked them to write, in their own words, who they are, why they are running and what issues they will address if elected.

What qualities should voters look for in a candidate seeking public office? Honesty and integrity, of course. In today's political climate, the character of an individual has become as important as that person's stands on the issues. And where it comes to a candidate's political positions, it's also important that voters know their elected official has heard all sides fairly and treated constituent requests for governmental attention with respect and decency. Mostly, though, an average citizen just wants to know that the candidate they elect will have the dedication and commitment to do the job right.

My name is Bill Washington and I'm a Democratic candidate for Congress in the upcoming September 1st primary election. I'd like to thank the Belle Glade and Pahokee Sun for this opportunity to introduce myself to the voters of Florida's newly-drawn 23rd Congressional District.

Since 1980, I have been successfully self-employed as President of William Washington, P.A., a public accounting firm in Riviera Beach. I graduated from the University of Missouri in 1972 with a degree in accounting. Before starting my own firm, I was a senior accountant with Peat, Marwick, & Co., one of the country's largest. I have an 8-year-old daughter, Oni, and am a member of the Tabernacle Baptist Church in West Palm Beach.

Your best protection against drug interactions

Dear Editor:

The FDA recently announced that Seldane and erythromycin can cause a serious or fatal reaction when taken together. This has caused a big concern for thousands of people who take these medications.

As a pharmacist, I share the concern. And I'm equally concerned about thousands of patients who take various other medications that can also cause serious interactions.

For example, one of the most common drugs used to control asthma, theophylline, can cause huge problems when taken with one of several new antibiotics called quinolones.

And drug interactions are not just limited to prescription medications. They affect non-prescription drugs as well.

Some people who take blood thinners to protect against blood clots have suffered serious bleeding, and some have even died, as a result of taking aspirin at the same time.

Some people have died by taking non-prescription cough syrup in the same day as taking their antidepressant drug. This is because the most common ingredient in cough syrups, dextromethorphan, can cause serious problems when combined with a class of antidepressants called MAOIs.

And there are many more examples. In fact ANY can cause problems if not taken properly. DON'T take drug safety for granted.

A good pharmacist will routinely check for possible drug interactions. All pharmacists have been extensively trained to understand and detect these problems. Make sure your pharmacist, and your doctor, routinely check for possible drug interactions, whenever you use a prescription or non-prescription medication.

Respectfully,
Robert B. Story

As a Certified Public Accountant, I understand budgets and finance. Soaring budget deficits have seriously eroded the quality of life in country, and seriously damaged America's economic competitiveness at home and abroad. I won't be a rubber stamp for $400 billion deficits. With sound budgetary policies, our nation can become great again. I believe:

- The tax system should be reformed to provide incentives for companies that create jobs here in the United States.

- Health care is a right, not a privilege. I support a universal employer-based system, with a government alternative for small businesses and people without insurance.

- Growing economies and strong nations are the result of a well-educated people. I favor establishing a $200 million fund for research into new educational technologies and innovative teaching methods.

- This country's savings rate is too low. I will work to amend the tax code and encourage people to save money. No income taxes on interest earned from personal savings, up to $10,000 per individual.

- The Social Security tax structure is unfair to middle and low income workers. An individual earning $20,000 per year and a person making $500,000 per year both pay the same Social Security tax rate of 7.65%. I favor a graduated Social Security tax. Those who earn less shouldn't have the same bite taken out of their paychecks as someone who can afford to pay more.

Last year, over 4,000 bills were introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives, but only 160 of them became law. Maybe that's because Congress has too many members trying to obtain special benefits for a few, to be paid for by the many. One thing is certain - we don't need more career politicians in office.

Vote for Bill Washington in the September 1st Democratic primary election in the 23rd Congressional District. I want to be a representative for ALL the people.

Kenneth Cooper (DEM) Congressional candidate for District #23

I am running for the United States Congress because I am tired of the direction of the country. I see a downward spiral in quality of the life and economics. I was a college level economics instructor and believe we need to bring jobs back to America.

I believe we need a new and positive direction in this country. I propose and will present to the United States Congress legislation to balance the budget by reducing the budget across the board 5 to 10% per year until balanced. In this manner the reductions will be fair to all!

At the same time we need to implement sound management practices to eliminate the incredible waste in the government. If we eliminated the waste and the fraud we could reduce the budget and not cut services.

We need to create the #1 educational system in the world. Currently we are 23 in math and science. We will not be able to compete in the future unless we become #1 in education.

We need to incorporate high quality vocational schools with the current educational system so that both go hand in hand into the new technical future.

We need to create jobs for our workers. We need to accomplish this by placing our tax laws to make domestic manufacturing more favorable than foreign manufacturing. In short, we need to bring jobs back to America.

Thirty seven million people do not have medical insurance. For the rest of us we never thought medical insurance would be the third or fourth largest expense in our budget. We need a comprehensive medical care plan.

Position of Budget Deficit

I propose and will present to the United States Congress legislation to balance the budget by reducing the budget across the board 5 - 10 percent per year until balanced. In this manner the reductions will be fair to all!

At the same time we need to implement sound management practices to eliminate the incredible waste in the government. If we eliminated the waste, we could reduce the budget and not cut services. After the budget is balanced we must allocate 5 - 10 percent of the budget to pay off the national debt. After the debt is paid off we need to start an employment fund to counteract any recessionary times.

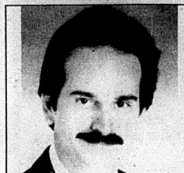

The fund would be the same as a savings account where we would take maybe 5% of the budget per year and save it. The fund would be kept separate from the general revenues and in the event unemployment went above 6 percent then the money could be used to create either job programs or low interest loan for new manufacturing.

Position on Economy

We need to create jobs for our workers. We need to accomplish this by placing incentives to rebuild our manufacturing plants and by modifying our tax laws to make domestic manufacturing more favorable than foreign manufacturing. In short, we need to bring jobs back to America.

We need to implement trade sanctions and/or import quotas on Japan until Japan competes in a fair manner.

Due to certain tax loopholes

Tom Lewis (REP) Congressional candidate for District #6

Japan and other foreign countries do NOT pay 98 billion dollars in taxes in America. We need to make the tax laws equal so that American companies are not burdened with the unfair share of taxes.

Social Security

In ten years is anticipated that there will not be enough money to pay the benefits for social security. I believe that we need to start TODAY to solve this problem. There is at least 80 billion dollars in fraud in social security. There is probably an equal amount of waste. Therefore, if we started today, we could save 160 billion dollars.

It was predicted 20 years ago that there would be a major medical crisis in 20 years. The government did nothing. Today, we have a major medical crisis. We need to stop CRISIS MANAGEMENT GOVERNMENT. I propose foresight in the government and we need to start today to solve the problems that we know are coming in social security. The NOTCH babies must be treated fairly and I will propose legislation to solve the discrimination against the Notch babies.

On Veterans

I can't believe that the government continually cuts back on veterans benefits. We asked the veterans to save our freedom of the world to fight in foreign countries. We give foreign countries billions of dollars yet we don't take care of our veterans.

We are owed at least 64 billion in loans to Poland and $6 billion to Egypt. Eight billion we could have spent on veterans benefits. I was brought up that you support the people that supported you.

The economy is clearly the issue of most concern to Floridians. I believe there have been two actions, which I opposed, that have harmed middle class Americans in particular; the 1986 Tax Reform Act and the 1990 Budget Summit Agreement.

Tax Reform eliminated many of the incentives for our most productive economic activities, saving and investing. To compound this mistake, the 1990 Budget Summit raised taxes, and raised spending even more, resulting in record deficits.

We must enact permanent policies to encourage saving and investing through measures such as Individual Retirement Accounts. A "Super IRA" proposal I have cosponsored restores IRA's and allows withdrawals for first-time home-buyers, education expenses and devastating medical expenses.

In addition, I have twice voted for a Balanced Budget Amendment to the Constitution, and strongly support the line-item veto to reduce government waste. This year, I voted for the only budget which actually reduced government spending. Leaving with a four trillion dollar debt is nothing less than immoral.

The heart and soul of Belle Glades' economy is obviously agriculture, which sits proudly as the winter vegetable capital of the world. Clearly, much of the talk in Florida agriculture this year has centered on the pending North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The intent of the agreement is admirable, a vital trading hemisphere between Mexico, Canada, and the United States.

However, Mexico is a country known for its poor quality of health, safety and environmental standards. Unless negotiated in a fair and justified manner, NAFTA could spell devastation for Florida's agriculture community.

Any agreement must give Florida agriculture a fair chance to compete, preserving the important economic base, providing jobs, business viability and community stability. If the agreement falls short, I will not support passage and will work actively to defeat a bad agreement in Congress.

I have traveled your roads and have shared your urgent concerns in regard to making them safer. To ensure the safety of thousands of residents, and facilitate the movement of commerce, South-Central Florida must have adequate transportation routes.

It has been a long, hard struggle to secure funding for badly-needed work on "Killer Highway" U.S. 27 and State Road 80. I promised to come to Congress and fight for these projects. I have kept that commitment.

Together, we have addressed the hard questions of housing and health care in your community. We have won fights that have provided more affordable housing, and improved water and sewer system, and enhanced basic health needs by improving access to health care services for all.

While the world has enjoyed your abundant resources, I have had the pleasure of representing its richest resource, its people. Ours has been a friendship and relationship which goes back many years.

I've enjoyed working with the fine people in Belle Glade and look forward to continuing this teamwork as we face future challenges.

MIGRAINE

Also called sick headaches, a typical migraine attack, begins with a dull throbbing ache in one area of the head and progresses to a piercing pain. These tortuous attacks may be preceded by a change in the field of vision - a flickering before the eyes, flashes of light or a partial blocking of the vision. They are sometimes accompanied by nausea or vomiting. They are seldom relieved by aspirin. Their duration is from 2 to 48 hours.

Melissa Ann Carothers Moon

Carothers - Moon joined August 8th

Mr. and Mrs. C. Graham Carothers of Tallahassee are proud to announce the marriage of their daughter Melissa Ann Carothers to Bryan Scott Moon of Leesburg, formerly of Pahokee.

Mr. Moon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moye L. Moon of Leesburg.

The wedding took place at the Faith Presbyterian Church, Tallahassee on August 8. The bride's uncle, Reverend Milton Stover Carothers officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. C. Graham Carothers. The best man was Mike Rogers of Howey-In-The-Hills and the matron of honor was the bride's sister, Allison Carothers Harvey of Tallahassee.

Bridesmaids included Stephanie Campbell of Sarasota, Krista Dimeo of St. Petersburg, Meike Detassis of Tallahassee, and Karrie Keuling of Kissimmee.

The groom's niece, Cari Dawes of Leesburg, served as flower girl and the ring bearer was Chad Stadler of Pahokee, the groom's nephew. Ushers were C. Graham Carothers, Jr., the bride's brother, David Billmeier of Tallahassee, Gerry Skipper of Grand Ridge, and Steve Kazmieriski of Lake City.

The church was decorated with large Boston ferns based at the base of the cross and two large altar arrangements of Delphinium, Rubrum lilies, white snapdragon, yellow daisies, and statice with asparagus fern, holly fern, sego palm and various greens interspersed. The church columns were draped with fern, and flowers held together with ivory satin ribbon.

The organist was Eric Wall, soloist was Linda Dimeo of St. Petersburg, and the pianist was Dr. Myron Munday and the trumpeter was Dr. John Wilson.

The bride wore her mother's floor length gown of silk organza featuring entire bodice and bracelet length sleeves of re-embroidered alençon lace. The Sabrina neckline was the highlight and of matching lace. The bouffant skirt was accented with a short pleated and large tailored bow for accent interest. The skirt swept to a chapel length train. The French illusion veil made by her mother was held in place with a band of corresponding alençon lace accented with pearls.

The bride carried a small white family Bible and an arm bouquet of Champagne roses, Stephanotis and Queen Anne's lace accompanied by asparagus fern and other greens tied with satin ivory ribbon.

The bridesmaids wore suits of cotton sateen with a floral design of pale pastels and featuring a peplum waist and self bow on the back. They carried loose arm bouquets of delphinium, rubrum lilies, yellow "Pennylane" daisies, Queen Anne's lace, open pink roses with asparagus fern and tied with ivory ribbon.

The flower girl wore a tea length pinafore of lavender moray taffeta accented with tailored bows at the shoulder and a large bow sash tied above ruffled tiers down the center back.

The flower girl carried a white basket of pastel flowers and greenery with matching fresh flowers arranged in her hair.

A reception was held at the Governors Club, Tallahassee and guest were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Steve Edwards and Dr. and Mrs. J. Scott-Dailey. Serving were Mrs. Jack Courson, Mrs. C. Gary Cox, Mrs. Walter Demilly and Mrs. John Moore, all of Tallahassee.

The three tiered chocolate layer cake featured ivory frosting accented with clustered wedding roses and filled flowers at the cake base.

Out of town guests included the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Ray of Pahokee, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Walker, groom's aunt and uncle; and Mr. and Mrs. Dusty Stadler and family, groom's sister and brother-in-law and children.

After a wedding trip to Sea Island, Georgia, the couple will make their home in Gainesville. The bride wore a teal linen damask suit as she left on the honeymoon.

The bride graduated from McClay High School, Tallahassee Community College and Florida State University where she was a member of the FSU Flying High Circus.

The groom graduated from Tavares High School and Florida State University where he was a member of the Flying High Circus. He is presently in his second year of medical school at the University of Florida.

Private Industry Council awards

Governor Lawton Chiles and Shirley Gooding-Butler, Acting Secretary of the Department of Labor and Employment Security, recently announced that August has been designated as JTPA (Job Training Partnership Act) Alumni Month, in conjunction with the national celebration. "Florida's future growth depends on a highly skilled and trained workforce. Through the JTPA program, our citizens are receiving this valuable training," said Chiles.

The Palm Beach County Private Industry Council will be holding a reception at the Drawbridge Cafe to recognize these individuals from 7:30 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, August 26th.

The event will honor successful alumni, those who have overcome obstacles and hardships to graduate from one of PIC's programs and become a full-fledged member of the workforce. Many of these graduates have moving stories to share and they will do so at the event.

In addition to PIC alumni, members of the business community, elected officials, and agency representatives will be in attendance.
